

RESIDENCE OF W. B. CARAWAY.

The above is a photograph of the handsome residence of W. B. Caraway, on Main Street. Mr. Caraway, "the Printer Boy," as he is often and not inappropriately termed, came to West Liberty from West Virginia when a small boy and entered the printing office of his father, the late J. H. Caraway, where he learned the printers trade, and how well he learned it those who have seen him at the case or at the stone will testify.

Upon the death of his father Wallace became the proprietor of the Morgan County News, which he conducted successfully until it was taken over by the Morgan County Publishing Co., when the Licking Valley Courier was established in the spring of 1910. Mr. Caraway continued his connection with the newspaper until about two months ago when, on account of his health, he sold out entirely to the present owners.

Wallace will be missed in the printing office, for those whose ability and experience will enable them to fill his place are few and far between.

The Courier wishes him success in whatsoever field of labor he elects to engage.

The Greatness of Morgan County.

[BY NICK.]

Morgan county, situated as it is, in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, where the Anglo-Saxon blood flows purer than any place yet known, needs no introduction to the people of Kentucky.

Morgan county is one among the richest counties in timber and minerals. Some of the greatest coal fields known are situated within its boundaries and virgin forests still exist which have never heard the sound of the whirring saw.

The inhabitants of this county are nearly all law-abiding people and the good set of officers which we have make it possible that Morgan county has the name of being one of the most peaceable and law-abiding counties within the confines of old Kentucky.

Although our soil and railway facilities are not as good as some of the far famed blue grass counties we always raise more agricultural products than is used by our people, and although the majority of the people are poor they have the name of having more to subsist upon and are happier and better contented than a busy man in a hot, busy, crowded and bustling city where pure air, contentment and happiness is unknown.

Morgan county has three incorporated towns, West Liberty, Ezel and Caney.

West Liberty has the name of being the metropolis of the county, situated on a bluff overlooking the beautiful valley and placid waters of Licking river, with a population of 600 people and situated within its lines are a $35,000 court house, a $15,000 church, a $5,000 bank, a $12,000 hotel, besides several stores and other nice houses, all of which gives West Liberty the name metropolis, which it richly deserves.

Ezel is situated on a high plain which rises from Blackwater. It is an ideal place for a town, being nearly level. Ezel has a population of 180 people, two stores, one blacksmith shop, one jewelry store and two hotels, besides other buildings too numerous to mention.

Caney has about 200 people, several stores and hotels and the Caney Valley Railroad runs through this place. To sum up all the results,

Morgan county is a poor man's paradise, the land of the free and the home of the brave. It is the haven of the down-trodden and the hope of the oppressed. It is the asylum of the homeless and the opportunity of the willing. We have room for more good people, our broad acres and thriving towns welcome them, but let our new citizens be law-abiding and not some dirty class of foreigners who take our money to other lands. Patronize your home merchants and let's keep our money among our own people. Let everybody strive to lift the standard of Morgan higher day by day and we shall never want for good people to locate in our county. Honest people from other places, we welcome you to our county.

G. W. Stacy.

G. W. Stacy, of Grass Creek, whose announcement for Jailer of Morgan county appears elsewhere in this issue of the Courier, is too well known to the Democrats for us to attempt to introduce him. He belongs to that old and sturdy stock of true and tried Democrats that helped to build and re-organize the party in Morgan county just after the Civil War and there has never yet been a time when a single one of the name failed to rally to the support of the nominees and contribute largely of their time and funds for the advancement of the democratic principles and doctrines.

George Stacy is one of the best citizens in Morgan county and has never asked the voters for their support; neither has any of his people ever held an office; and it goes without saying that he will be a formidable candidate.

Should he be elected to the office to which he aspires Morgan county will have for its jailer, a man whose integrity has never been questioned and whose character is above reproach, one who will reflect credit upon the entire community; and we believe there is no man who would do more to maintain a high standard of economy and business management of the institution over which he would preside and the public property of the county than George.

He cheerfully invites a rigid investigation of his fitness for the office and his claims upon the voters at the next democratic primary and pledges himself that if nominated and elected he will perform the duties of the office in an impartial and efficient manner and do whatever he can to serve the interests of the masses and make a jailer that every man in Morgan county will be proud of.
